

Ringing the changes Church to end its 60-year silence

Dickon Love, the tower keeper, examines one of the 12 new bells made for St Magnus the Martyr in the City of London. The church's original bells were removed during the Second World War